George & Anne

George Ranalli and Anne Valentino's partnership has flourished over the years, uniting architecture and artistry in a rare balance of vision and discipline. Together, they've built more than acclaimed projects—they've built a life defined by creativity, trust, and enduring collaboration.

Their journey reflects not just professional excellence but also the strength of two voices working in harmony, shaping spaces and stories that stand the test of time.

George Ranalli

INFLUENTIAL WORK

George Ranalli has built an influential career as an architect and educator, earning recognition for projects like the Saratoga Avenue Community Center in Brooklyn and award-winning furniture and product designs. His work, published internationally, is celebrated for clarity of form and commitment to community.

Alongside him, Anne Valentino brings a curatorial and design sensibility that strengthens their shared practice. Together, they merge innovation with humanity, creating architecture and design that balance artistry with real-world function—a partnership that has left a lasting mark on both the profession and cultural dialogue.

LASTING IMPRESSIONS

From his early days designing acclaimed furniture collections to leading projects like the Saratoga Avenue Community Center, George Ranalli's career has been defined by precision and vision. His work has been exhibited at the Museum of Modern Art and widely published, affirming his place in architectural history. As a longtime educator and dean at City College of New York, he mentored the next generation of architects, extending his influence beyond buildings into lasting contributions that shape design culture today.
